Event format/content:

On 11 February 2015, Sir Robert Francis QC published his final report following the Freedom to Speak Up review which looked at the raising concerns culture in the NHS. The report makes a number of key recommendations under five overarching themes with actions for NHS organisations and professional and system regulators to help foster a culture of safety and learning in which all staff feel safe to raise a concern. This event will take stock of the issues and explore how to organise a system for protecting patients and supporting clinicians. This will be delivered using a series of interactive lectures, talks and panel discussions.
