Clinical Examination (OSCE) Practice Course:

For Students Appearing for the Fourth and Final Year Exams
30th March 2014 (Sunday), Christie Hospital, Manchester

This intensive one-day clinical examination course was specially tailored to assist fourth and final year medical students prepare for the OSCE component of the exam in April 2014. Taught by physicians and surgeons, this course provided the students with a focused revision of the most common OSCE scenarios tested in the exam. It aimed to enhance the candidate's ability to obtain a focused history, interpret relevant data, communicate effectively, and perform clinical examinations slickly and present the findings to the examiner in a systematic & concise manner. In addition, the candidates used this course to consolidate their previously acquired knowledge, streamlined their thought process and obtained essential exam-preparation tips from the clinicians. The teaching was conducted in the format of small group teaching/mock OSCE, focusing on the essential topics. Every candidate had the opportunity to participate in mock OSCE scenarios throughout the day.

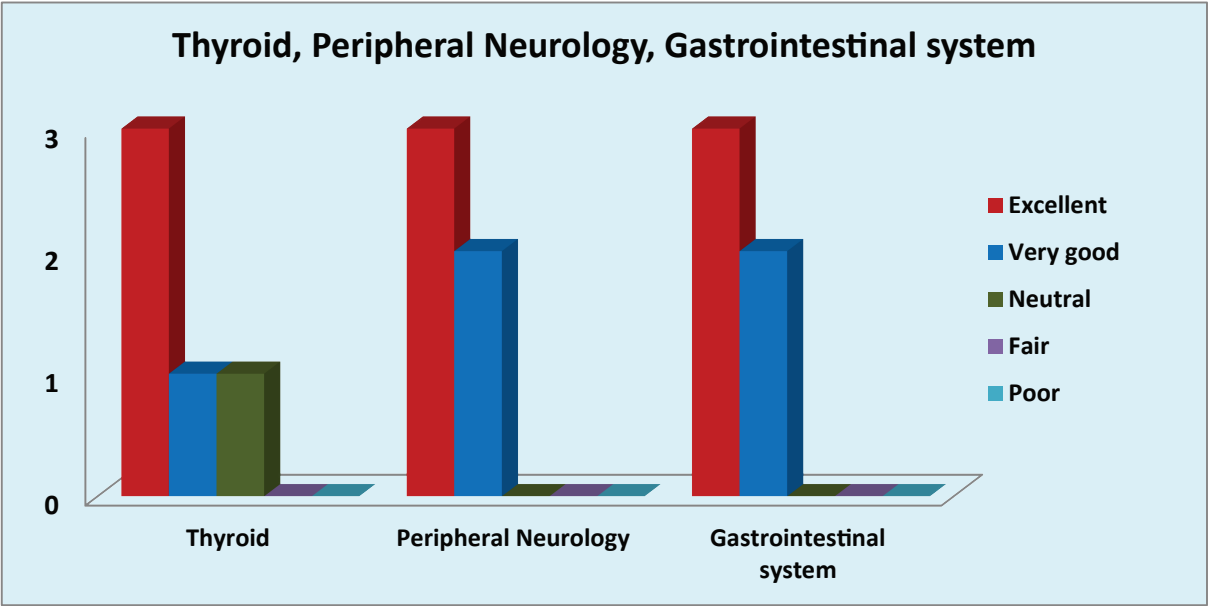

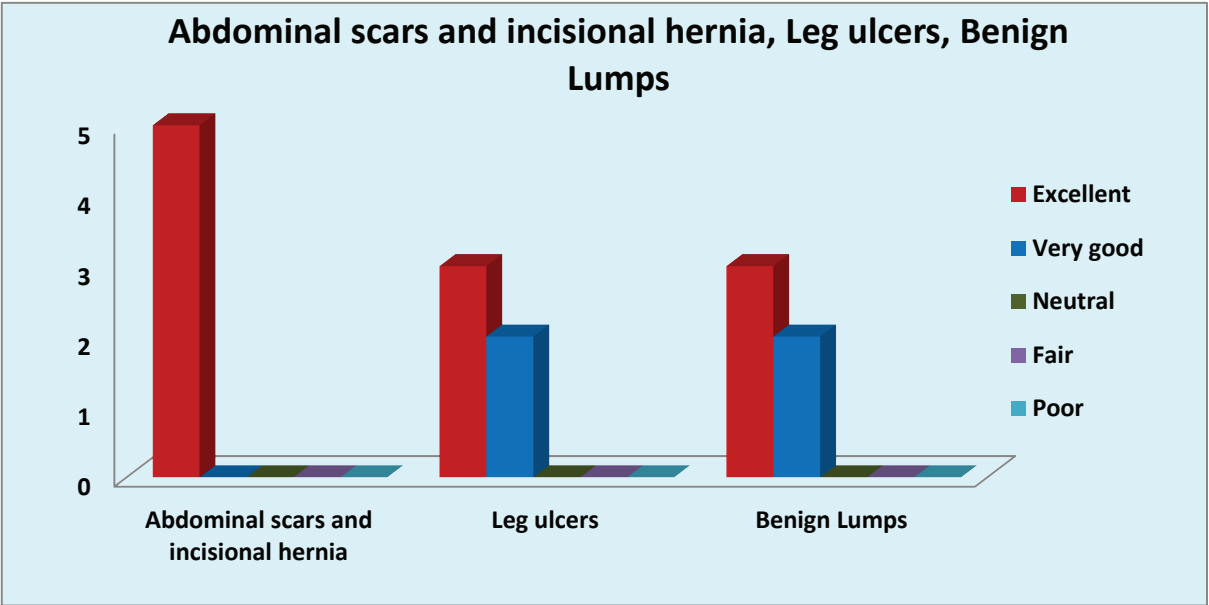

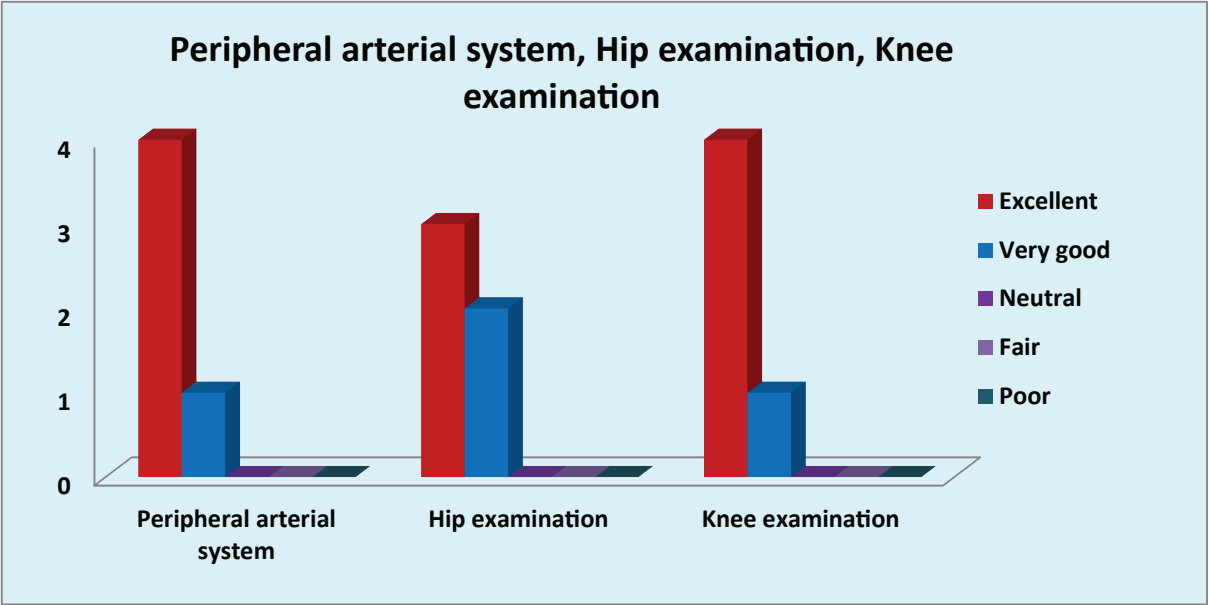

The candidates seem to have enjoyed the course and benefitted from it. The collated summary of the feedback is summarised in the subsequent pages.

Very good course. The sessions with the patients and me being able to examine were excellent. I was able to do the abdomen and knee exam and get some feedback.

Friendly and helpful tutors, learned a lot. In my OSCE, the following stations came up which we covered during the course: Abdominal exam, Cardiovascular exam, Peripheral vascular disease, Neurology and Thyroid. It was very useful to have practiced all the examinations during the course.

Very useful surgery sessions - having the chance to practice examinations with supervision after being shown how to complete them. Medicine also really good, very interactive with lots of challenging questions and a really enthusiastic teacher.
