A Focused Overview of Successfully Managing >40% TBSA Burns: An Overview for FRCS (Plast) Exam

Despite major advances in the last few decades in the therapeutic strategies (such as improved resuscitation, enhanced wound coverage, infection control, pharmacotherapeutics, and management of inhalation injuries) for the management of patients with large area burns, the consequences of a large area burn are severe and profound. Such a burn results in complex metabolic changes that can adversely affect every organ system. The management of a patient with a severe burn requires a multipronged, focused and structured approach which addresses the local burn wound, as well as the systemic, psychologic and social consequences of the injury. This talk, by Miss Elizabeth Chipp, Consultant Consultant Burns and Plastic Surgeon University Hospital Birmingham and Birmingham Children's Hospital, provided an overview of this topic and addressed the current advances and updates in its management, including emergency burn care, attenuating hypermetabolism and burn wound management.
